Chapter 11

From 3829:

Hi guys, it's been a looong week of releases for Yaoguai Mingdan, and I want to thank all of your support for the series so far! I'm really enjoying doing the translations, and I'm hoping you are enjoying reading them! We really appreciate your interest in the series, and the enthusiasm you guys have for what's going to happen next. However, EIH is also busy with other projects, and more importantly (hopefully) school, which is starting again for many of us. We will be continuing to put out content for this series every Monday, which you may have noticed is on our release schedule, which has been planned out since before any sort of reader feedback. Again, I would like to thank each and every one of you for your continued support!

WCK's TLDR;

Basically, we're not angry or punishing anybody. We just have other projects to focus on, and every one of us is going to be busy with school. We just don't want to overextend ourselves for no reason.

Chapter 12

So, why did we release a second chapter this week? Well, first off, it stopped at a dumb place. Second, have around 15 chapters saved up. We were planning on releasing all at once if we could catch up to raw, but it doesn't look like that'll happen. So, we're considering the option of 2 weekly chapters of Yaoguai Mingdan, similar to how we're doing God Among Men. With the newly added staff to EIH, it's a possibility.

USUALLY PLANT MONSTERS MUST SLOWLY ABSORB YING AND YANG FROM THE SUN AND MOON. THIS MEANS THEY HAVE NO NEED FOR HUMANS. THIS DRYAD MUST BE DRAINING YANG FROM MEN IN ORDER TO SPEED UP THIS PROCESS

3829's super special awesome attempt to help you understand WTF is going on

I know for a fact that my translation of page 8 is not perfect. In fact I'm probably missing a whole lot more that I might have to come back to correct as we progress with this series. Regardless, it can get a little confusing if you don't have any knowledge of ancient Chinese religion and mythology (I guess that's what this). So basically when all the tribes were united by the one emperor dude, he felt so on top of the world that he just didn't want the party to end. So what he did was he got all his prophets and diviners and whatever else they had back then to research a method to make him immortal (just like the other kingdom in FMA). Basically what they came up with was that you had to do these rituals in order to improve yourself. Once you improved yourself to a certain point, you'd reach super special awesomeness (pretty sure this belief is rooted in Taoism) and you couldn't improve yourself anymore and lo and behold, you're immortal. So these rituals that you'd do would help out to balance your internal and external alchemy, which may have included yoga, breathing exercises, or chemical ingestion, which in the case of certain heavy metals that they tried such as mercury, led to the opposite of what they were going for. Regardless, they wanted to balance out their yin and yang. How does this relate to the story? Well basically, the dryad is speeding up the process by acquiring lots of yin and yang and carrying out a bunch of rituals (read: having copious amounts of sex with everyone). She's gaining power through this and is becoming pretty dangerous pretty quickly. This is my very rudimentary understanding of this, so if you want more information, I'd check out Wikipedia and/or watch/read about the story of the Monkey King.

TL;DR: Plant lady's having lots of sex to get powerful, this system was modeled after the one that exists in Taoism.

P.S. Thanks mom for explaining this to me lol

Chapter 13

Unforunatly, there's going to be many more instances in the future of us needing to have explanation pages in the back of these chapters. There's lots of things even the translators don't understand, and need to either look up or ask an older Chinese person for help with. Either way, they're necissary for anybody reading to actually understand the general plot.

C'mon. We all knew Feng Feng wasn't getting any. With that said, I hope it's now obvious that this isn't a harem. Because a murderer out for your life isn't a love interest. So, you may have noticed in our other releases that we've said we'll be switching to HQ raws at some chapter. On this manhua, we won't be switching until Chapter30, unfortunatly. I hope the quality we currently have is enough until then~

I very much stand by the suggestion of watching the Little Apple MV. That shit is hilarious. Also, please excuse my horrible typesetting on some of the more difficult areas this chapter. I'm a cleaner/redrawer by nature. Typesetting isn't my strongsuit, but I did the best I could. Also, I might as well say this here. We're looking for a proofreader for some other series we're gonna be putting out. This should go without saying, but you'll need exceptional English. And a good attitude is prefered. Anyhow, PM me on Batoto or contact us via our site if you're interested.

AS BAD AS THIS SOUNDS IN ENGLISH, THE TERM "FATTY" HOLDS A NEUTRAL CONNOTATION IN CHINESE. IN THIS CASE, IT'S USED TO SHOW FAMILIARITY BETWEEN THE DORMMATES. OFTENTIMES PEOPLE WILL BE REFERRED TO BY A CERTAIN CHARACTERISTIC OR TITLE OF THEIRS, BUT THAT'S AS FAR AS IT GOES, LIKE HOW THE CHARACTERS USE "DORM HEAD" INSTEAD OF USING HIS NAME, OR LIKE HOW YOU MIGHT CALL SOMEONE SEITOKAICHOU/BUCHOU/TENCHOU WITHOUT USING THEIR NAME. AGAIN, THIS IS NOT FAT SHAMING. PLEASE DO NOT MISUNDERSTAND.

Attention:

So, if you've visited our site or seen the comments on Batoto, you'd already know this, but if not... we no longer have one of our Chinese translators. He covered this series and several others. Zefkiel has offered to cover 1 chapter a week of Yaoguai Mingdan continuing from Chapter 32, in hopes that somebody will take his place. I am doing my best to do damange control, but with an editor also leaving, things aren't going too well. That being said, we'd really appreciate a dedicated translator for this series, as well as for Mori Xingguang. Also, ediors would be VERY appreciated, as I have been left as the sole editor for this group. That means that unfortunatly, I will not be able to do release the series we do have a translator for as quickly. So, this series will be continued, just at a slowed pace, unless one of our lovely readers would like to come translate for us. All staff is welcome, and due to how abrupt this has all been, I'm willing to train in order to get this all sorted out. Thanks for your patience. Contact us here:
